TRANSPORT IS OUR BUSINESS - A DIVISION OF THE A. HARTRODT GROUP

food & beverage logistics

Food and beverage products present every logistics company with very special demands. a. hartrodt's specialised food & beverage logistics division, established in 2005, is ideally set up to fulfil these challenging requirements.

The international forwarding company a. hartrodt was established in 1887 and remains an independent family business to this day. Our highly motivated staff work in a global network of branch offices.

food & beverage logistics is an independent division that is in an excellent position to deal with the particular needs of the food and beverage industry – and, of course, it also enjoys access to the existing contacts and resources of a. hartrodt.

We offer logistics services that meet special demands in terms of short delivery times, temperature-controlled transport and order monitoring, all of which are necessary for sensitive and highquality food and beverage products.

The key to success is our experience together with a global network, a strong corporate culture and the tradition of a family owned company. The professional expertise of a committed workforce in the food and beverage division rounds off our portfolio.
